Strong Temperance Talk - The Coming Play - Lecture on Kipling - A Grange Visit-Card Party - Pleasant Per-

Since Father O'Conner delivered his powerful address at St. James' on the selling of liquors illegally and espec-ially on Sunday, warning the parents of his parish to look after their boys and girls and keep them away from the baseball games of a Sunday at Avon Park, he has received many commendations and congratulations from men of all denominations. Wives of men have been to Father O'Conner and told him that their husbands were drunk in Avon park of a Sunday, when they should be at church. The new pastor of St. James' feels strongly on this matter, and he proposes to push his efforts to some definite conclusion. He says he is not in town as a hireing but to protect the spiritual and temporal interests of his people, and to promote the welfare of the whole town. It is known that the public prosecutor is in full sympathy with Father O'Con-ner, and if there is not local authority enough to close illegal saloons he will do so to the best of his ability. Fath-er O'Conner would have the liquor saloons investigated as well as cases of smallpox or scarlet fever, for he thinks they should be quarantined or put out of commission just as effectively as a house where a contagious disease has appeared.

"Si and I" will be at the Housatonic Grange on the evening of the 13th inst., when the new play is given. Si says he wouldn't miss going for $2, and I thinks he is right. This is the title of a little after piece, or skit, which will be put on the stage at the conclusion of Prof. Baxter's Great Invention. Much time and money has been sent. Much time and money has been spent in preparing this play, and its produc-tion is being regarded with deep in-

The gentlemen of the Men's Club which is to meet next Monday evening at Mr. Spall's on East Broadway, will be pleased to learn that Rev. Henry Hallam Tweedy, now of New Haven, where he has just moved his family, will take for the subject of his address, Rudyard Kipling. This is sure to be treated in an interesting manner, and those who heard the same topic disthose who heard the same topic discussed at the library last winter by a Yale professor, can compare notes. The Dunbar family proposes to build a home on Freeman avenue.
